1. To provide the necessary capital for the building of the 2000 houses immediately required for the workers and in this way help to stem the unemployment menace.
 2. (a) To provide the difference between the economic and the reasonable rent to be obtained from the tenants, or alternatively,
 (b) To issue directions that the tenants of all new houses are to become proprietors of same and fix a method of arriving at the fair purchase price on easy terms of repayment somewhat similar to Land Purchase.

We are of opinion that the million pounds provided is totally inadequate even to start work for this year and respectfully suggest that more money ought to be obtained either through the Irish Banks or by means of an International Loan or otherwise to enable schemes to be undertaken as quickly as possible
