As someone who needs a mobility scooter and a walking frame to get around, the amount of cars parked on pathways blocking access for me can be overwhelming at times, pretty much every day, not just on the main street but around the estates as well. I'd love to see signs everywhere warning cars not to park on paths, it may not stop a lot but it'll certainly help. And on that note, all paths should have a dip in them to wheel on and off, not all do. Bin days can be very problematic too with paths blocked, bin drivers usually leave them in the middle of the paths.
