Recent developments in archers wood and Hawkins wood, while they have nice houses and a rated, they do not have solar. Requiring solar on all houses as well as making them a rated will help with reductions in carbon. A rated alone will not. Additionally local public amenities such as the new school in Glenheron does not have solar which is such a wasted opportunity for additional levels of sustainability. Mandating that all new buildings and all substantial redevelopments must have solar equivalent to a certain kw or 50-75% of roof space will make significant change
