I totally disagree with this plan. Greystones does not need thousands more houses. It needs to be adequately resourced for the population it has, and this would put unacceptable increasing pressure on local schools, amenities and infrastructure. There has been no increase in primary school places in years and the secondary schools already cannot meet the needs of the local population. In addition, there is insufficient public transport to service this massive development. Furthermore, the water treatment plant is already unable to cope with the sewage from the region and there are complaints regularly sent to Uisce Eireann regarding the smell. The idea that the local GAA grounds would be rezoned as residential is very concerning and shows a serious lack of understanding of the importance of this land to the community. The former golf club should be developed as an amenity for the town, not another Cairn concrete eyesore of 1500 duplexes.
