Time for making application to extend or further extend appropriate period

An application under Section 42 (1) of the Planning & Development Acts 2000 (as amended) to extend the appropriate period as regards a particular permission shall be made not earlier than two years before the expiration of the appropriate period sought to be extended and prior to the end of the permission you are seeking to extend.

Content of application to extend appropriate period

An Application under Section 42 (1)(a) of the Planning & Development Acts 2000(as amended) to further extend the appropriate period as regards a particular permission shall contain the information (a) to (m).

The application should also be accompanied by the appropriate fee being €62.00.

In making the application you should be guided by the provisions of Section 42 (1) of the Planning and Development Act 2000 (as amended), and in particular applications to extend the appropriate period must meet the requirements set out under Part A & Part B

Part A

i) the Planning authority is satisfied that—

- (I) the development to which the permission relates was commenced before the expiration of the appropriate period sought to be extended,
- (II) substantial works were carried out pursuant to the permission during that period, and
- (III) the development will be completed within a reasonable time,
- (IV) the Planning Authority shall not extend the appropriate period in relation to a permission if an environmental impact assessment or an appropriate assessment would be required in relation to the proposed extension concerned.

Part B

- the application is in accordance with such regulations under the Planning and Development Act 2000 (as amended) as apply to it,
- any requirements of, or made under the Planning and Development Regulations 2001(as amended) are complied with as regards the application, and
- the application is duly made prior to the end of the appropriate period. But not earlier than two years before the expiration or the appropriate period sought to be extended.

Note: A decision to extend the appropriate period of a permission shall be made not more than twice under Section 42(1) and a planning authority shall not further extend the appropriate period. Where a second decision to extend an appropriate period is made under this section, the combined duration of the 2 extensions of the appropriate period shall not exceed 5 years
